FOREIGN AID FINAL ACTION DRAWS NEAR

House Leaders Start Session Early Hoping for Bill's Passage Today.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—The house smacked down today an attempt to cut $1,300,000,000 from its $6,025,000,000 foreign aid bill. The standing vote was 112 to 61.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—Time and amount were the big issues as house leaders put on the pressure today for passage of the $6,205,000,000 foreign aid bill.

Republican leader Halleck of Indiana ordered the session to start early and run late.

"We said before we'd be through by April 1," he said, "and I think we will."

And Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), managing the measure on the floor, told a reporter "we'll wind it up today."

The main but unwritten purpose of the bill is to block the march of Communism across Europe and China.

There is disagreement over how long congress should pledge this country to help Europe recover and what the cost should be this year. The bill now provides for a one-year program at a cost of $5,300,000,000.

No Change Likely

"Time and amount are the big things left," Vorys said, "and I think they'll be left substantially as is."

He predicted the house would beat down:

A proposal by Rep. Hand (R-NJ) to rip out all military aid—$275,000,000 for Greece and Turkey and $150,000,000 for China.

Another by Rep. Vursell (R-Ill) to slash the European recovery total to $4,000,000,000.

That would leave just the program's duration and cost to be threshed out.

The way the foreign affairs committee drafted the bill, congress would have to okay a new program and a new appropriation every year.

But it also says something about the money remaining available until mid-1952. Some congressmen regard that date as a moral commitment to a four-year program. The want to knock it out.

The house spent eight hours yesterday putting things in and taking others out.

It put in:

An invitation to Spain to get in on the European recovery program.

Provisions empowering the foreign aid administrator to ban shipments of war supplies to Russia and her satellites, and to do his best to see to it that western Europe doesn't make American materials into war goods for eastern Europe.

A requirement that half the cargoes shipped for European recovery be carried in American vessels.

It took out:

Authority for the chartering of 200 American ships to countries receiving help.

As for Spain, the foreign affairs committee agreed to have the bill say that country should be allowed to come into ERP on terms set by the 16 other European nations, and the house quickly went along.

Throngs of license plate buyers today filled the office of Deputy Registrar Walter C. Bailey, 131 North State street, in the annual last-minute rush to secure plates for their cars before midnight tonight, when state highway patrolmen, sheriffs, and city police throughout the state will start a state wide check to see that all cars on the road bear 1948 license plates.

At noon today 6,877 sets of passenger car plates had been sold by Deputy Registrar Bailey since they went on sale March 1. The registrar said he anticipated total sales this year would exceed those of last year by 500 to 800 licenses.

Today also marked the last opportunity for holders of 1947 drivers' licenses to secure their 1948 permits without retaking their drivers tests. Complete tallies on drivers license sales were unavailable at this time, Mr Bailey said.

Democrats Hear U. S. Official At Jackson Day Dinner Here

By SCOTT McMURRAY

Because of yesterday's vote in congress on the European recovery plan, Congressman Ray J. Madden who was scheduled to address the annual Jackson day dinner of the Marion County Democratic club at the Masonic temple last night, could not attend. Substituting for him was Theron LaMar Caudle of North Carolina, assistant attorney general of the United States in charge of the tax division, and a past president of the Federal Bar association.

Two hundred and eighty-two attended the dinner. Among the guests was Mrs. Frank J. Lausche, wife of former Gov. Lausche who now is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for that office. A number of Democratic candidates for state and county offices also were present.

"The Democratic party is the party of the little people and it is to the Democratic party the little people turn in their hour of need and crisis," Mr. Caudle declared.

"In the dark days of 1916 when this country faced its first terrible World War, they turned for guidance to the Democratic party and placed Woodrow Wilson at the helm of the ship of state.

"I have never admired criticism of the Republican party by a Democrat. Neither have I admired criticism of the Democratic party by a Republican. In our American way of life under the two party system a man has a perfect right to vote for what he believes in and for what he knows to be right.

"I'm not going to blame the depression on Hoover, but I will say that the government of his administration and the Republican majority which domintaed the congress at that time through their conservative, money minded, lack of vision, and lack of judgment in evaluating the feelings and needs of the American people approaching a domestic crisis made the debacle of 1929 inevitable.

Rise of Roosevelt

"As they turn to the Democratic party in a war crisis so the little hard working people turned to the party in domestic crisis. The party produced Franklin D Roosevelt to captain our faltering ship of state in that fateful hour.

"I am told that Marion is the heart of a great agricultural area. I too come from a great farming area in North Carolina, and like you, our farmers knew the real meaning of a depression. Our banks were fighting for their lives and losing the fight. Credit became so tight that municipalities and county governments had to borrow money at six per cent interest to function. In one day an entire chain of 40 banks in North and South Carolina went under.

"Into this chaos came Franklin D. Roosevelt. He made the banks insure their depositors' money, and made security sales an honest business.

"In the dark days of 1936 to 1939 we saw the war clouds forming in Europe and our people knew they must prepare for war. With Roosevelt as our leader we won that war. But now we know what it means to win a war and lose the peace we so earnestly fought for.

"During the war both Republicans and Democrats stood shoulder to shoulder and gave their sons and bore the regimentation and regulation which was necessary to the winning of that war.

"Once more we must turn our eyes toward Europe and see dark days in our land as the threat of another war is upon us. This is a dark hour for our nation, but we must face the future, take stock of ourselves, admit our mistakes and prepare for any eventuality.

Lauds Truman

"You have an honest administration and a good and able President. President Truman is doing his best to carry out the promises made by the Democratic party in 1944.

"I was recently a guest of the President for dinner at the White House. I see and talk to the

First Jet-Powered Pleasure Boat Built by Prospect Firm

A Marion county concern has completed the first jet-propelled pleasure boat ever built. It will be given its first public showing today through April 10 at the eleventh annual American and Canadian Sportsmen's show at Cleveland.

Builder of the craft is the Hanley Engineering Service of Prospect, which in recent years has turned out a number of jet-propelled firefighting craft for the U. S. and Australian governments.

Plans for building a jet-propelled pleasure boat were first announced by Keenan Hanley, head of the engineering service, last fall at the time he was completing a 17-ton fire boat for the Australian government.

work on the first pleasure boat was carried on through the winter. The Hanley Service expects to go into production on the boat after the public showing of the pilot model at the Cleveland show.

Seats Four Passengers

The boat now completed is a 12-foot craft. It is finished in white with aluminum and chrome trim and with seats upholstered in white. It will seat four passengers, the maximum for a boat of this length. It is a runabout, or utility, model.

In the Cleveland show, which is being held in the Public Auditorium, the Prospect boat will be a feature attraction, since it will be the only one using jet propulsion. It will be one of 56 pleasure craft on display, ranging from luxurious cabin cruisers to canoes.

The power unit for the boat consists of the "head" of a 7.2 horsepower outboard motor. This is attached to a special pump designed by Hanley which shoots a powerful stream of water through the jet, providing the motive power. The motor and pump are mounted inboard.

Also Auto Motor Model

The boat also will be obtainable with a four-cylinder Crosley automobile motor at extra cost. Mr. Hanley said today the craft with regular motor will sell at $795 and with the four-cylinder motor the selling price will be $995.

The new boat has forward and reverse speeds and has the exceptionally shallow draft of three inches. It also has a fire hose attachment that can be used to fight fires in waterside summer cottages.

When the Hanley concern gets into production on the boat, two models, 12 and 16-foot lengths, will be built.

The 16-foot boat will be powered by a [illegible]-horsepower marine engine.

Board Hears Lewis, Hurries Up Report

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—John L. Lewis today faced a possible second court order in as many days—this one to send his 400,000 striking miners back to work at once.

The United Mine Workers' chief bowed to one summons yesterday and appeared for the first time before a presidential board of inquiry studying the facts and causes of the soft coal pension dispute.

After Lewis testified "under compulsion," the three-man board hurried to complete its report and thus speed further action by President Truman to halt the walkout which began March 15.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—The coal strike inquiry board reported to President Truman today — clearing the way for court action to end the 17-day mine shutdown.

The fact-finding report was submitted to Mr. Truman shortly after noon. Board Chairman Sherman Minton took it to the White House. With him were the other board members, Publisher Mark Ethridge of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Professor George W. Taylor of the University of Pennsylvania.

Under the Taft-Hartley act, the report had to be made before the government could ask a court order for John L. Lewis' miners to go back to work.

It was indicated the justice department was ready to go into court for the injunction promptly on getting the President's go-ahead.

As soon as Mr. Truman receives the report he can order Attorney General Clark to seek a court injunction to halt the strike. This step is provided under the Taft-Hartley act.

As the number one foe of the Taft-Hartley act, Lewis was well on the way toward providing its first and most spectacular test case.

Against Anti-Red Oath

He has steadfastly refused to meet a basic requirement of the act—to take an oath that he is not a Communist. A bitter anti-Communist, Lewis has blasted that provision as "an insult."

When Lewis responded to the subpoena yesterday, he vigorously denied that he had inspired the miners to walk out by his letter to them March 12. The letter said the operators had "dishonored" their contract by not agreeing to Lewis' pension proposal. It suggested that the local unions "hold meetings" to discuss this question.

The "meetings" resulted in a partial shutdown of the soft coal industry. It spread rapidly until its effects were nationwide. Steel production and railroad passenger and freight services were curtailed.

If the federal court grants an injunction against Lewis and the miners, his March 12 letter to the membership might play an important role in the legal argument. The court might ask him to withdraw or revise that letter because of its effect.

Two Letters Discussed

Federal Judge Sherman Minton, who is chairman of the fact-finding board, kept up a constant barrage of questions about the relationship between the March 12 letter to the miners and a Feb. 2 letter Lewis sent to the operators.

The notice to the operators cited a dispute over pensions and recalled that the contract signed last July 8 and running until next June 30 provides for "independent action" in a controversy.

Minton asked Lewis if the March 12 letter suggesting the "meetings" was the "independent action" referred to.

Lewis replied:

"If the purpose of your questioning is on the premise that my letter inspired any action by the United Mine Workers, then you are entirely in error."

Lewis said that letter, announced at a news conference, was "merely an overdue report to the beneficiaries" of the welfare and retirement fund.

With Lewis on the three-man board of trustees for the retirement fund were Ezra Van Horn, representing the operators, and Thomas E. Murray, New York financier, a neutral. Murray quit in January after both Lewis and Van Horn rejected his compromise to earmark for pensions $20,000,000 of the estimated $48,000,000 to be collected in the first year. The fund is financed by a 10-cent-a-ton coal royalty paid by the operators.

New Hartley Bill Aimed at Lewis

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31 — Rep. Hartley (R-NJ) introduced legislation today to make labor unions subject to prosecution under the anti-trust laws. It is admittedly aimed at John L. Lewis.

The bill, a proposed amendment to the Taft-Hartley labor-management act, would make it unlawful for labor unions to combine in restraint of trade.

The house twice has approved similar legislation but it never became law.

NEW RENT LAW IN TOMORROW

Truman Signs Measure Extending Modified Controls to March 31, 1949.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—A new rent control law, described by President Truman as weak but better than none, goes into effect at midnight tonight.

Some 50,000,000 Americans are covered by the measure extending modified controls to March 31, 1949.

The President in signing the bill late yesterday said in a statement: "We can not hope to be wholly successful in holding the line on rents by the powers granted in this act."

But he promised that the administration "will do everything it can under this act to hold rents to reasonable levels."

The new law does not provide for any general rent increases, but does permit boosts up to 15 per cent where tenants and landlords agree on a lease running through 1949.

Special Court Provided

The major change from the old law is the creation of a special federal court which has final say on raising or removing ceilings whenever Federal Housing Expediter Tighe Woods disputes a local board's findings. The law says the court must uphold any board which gives "adequate and substantial evidence" to support rent changes.

Mr. Truman said rents have increased at least six per cent "since the rent control law was weakened last June." He appealed for early congressional action on a federal housing program to help ease the shortage.

Raymond M. Foley, federal housing administrator, told a house committee Monday that 1,000,000 new homes and apartments will have to be built in the next 10 years to relieve the housing shortage.

Home builders meanwhile were told by the commerce department that stocks of some of the materials they need probably will be larger this spring than last year. Among these are hardwood flooring, nails, soil pipe and fittings, gypsum board and laths.

Steel Products Decrease

But the department reported that production of steel items such as concrete reinforcing bars, warm air furnaces and fabricated structural steel dropped in January from the December levels.

And the securities and exchange commission disclosed that home buyers ran up a record increase of $3,800,000,000 in mortgage debts in 1947. This compared with a gain of $3,200,000,000 in 1946 over the previous year.

Meanwhile an organization of building and loan groups — the United States Savings and Loan League—faced a court test under the 1946 lobbying act.

A federal grand jury indicted the league yesterday on charges that it did not give congress a full report on its lobbying activities.

The league is listed as a non-profit trade organization with a membership of about 3,600 savings and loan and building and loan associations. The justice department said total assets of the members are about $9,000,000,000.

Three officials of the league are registered with congress as lobbyists, but the justice department said the group had not filed a required statement of receipts and expenditures "for the purpose of influencing legislation."

The organization has been active in legislation dealing with housing, consolidation of federal housing or home finance agencies, real estate mortgage-lending business and postal savings systems.

ALL WINDOWS SMASHED AND HOUSE INVADED

Self-Styled Communist Leader's Property Attacked; Crowd Looks On.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31 — Two weeks of heckling by stones and telephone calls were climaxed last night by the storming of the home of a self-proclaimed Communist leader.

A crowd of 300 watched and cheered 30 or 40 persons who broke into the South Side house occupied by Frank Hashmall, 28-year-old former New York college student. He, his wife and infant child were absent. They returned shortly before police dispersed the crowd.

Before police came to read the riot act, the gang broke all the windows and much of the furniture, but left untouched four bookcases filled with Communist and other literature.

Sheriff Ralph Paul announced he planned to see if Hashmall could be declared a public menace and forced to leave town.

Hashmall, a 28-year-old, bespectacled former New York college student, came here two weeks ago and announced he was the executive secretary of Franklin county (Columbus) Communists.

Then his troubles began. They were climaxed last night with the attack on his house.

Refuses To Comment

A reporter asked Hashmall by telephone if he had any comment on the latest incident.

"Nothing at all, goodnight," he said, slamming the receiver.

His telephone number isn't listed in the phone book. But Columbus newspapers published it the other day, along with pictures of his home.

One paper carried the wrong number in one edition and the person whose number was given complained to police the next day:

"I can't sleep, I can't eat, I can't do anything. People just keep calling up and saying the most insulting things to me in the belief they're talking to this Hashmall."

Somebody threw a stone through Hashmall's window last Saturday. Then two men knocked on his door, caused a disturbance and wound up with Hashmall at police headquarters. The men were released when Hashmall failed to file a complaint. Police promised to patrol his home, however.

Preliminary Attack

Last night a gang of 40 or so heaved stones at windows. The members scattered when a patrol car pulled up.

About an hour later came the "real attack." While some 300 persons stood on the sidewalk and cheered, a band of about 40 smashed through the front door and proceeded to wreck the interior.

Forty policemen were quickly detailed to the area. When they arrived, sirens open, the raiders were on the sidewalk. Police Capt. Joseph Tibe ordered the crowd to disperse. It did so after about a half hour.

The inside of the house was a mess. Ironically, however, four bookcases filled with leftist literature were not damaged.

Try To Pass Out Pamphlets

Hashmall and a small group of followers attempted to pass out Communist literature at the Timken Roller Bearing Co. last week. Timken workers tore up the pamphlets. Police prevented violence.

A few days later, another attempt was made to pass out literature at the Timken plant. This time the pamphlets not only attacked the Marshall plan but the way the Timken workers acted previously. One of the literature-passers was "slugged," Hashmall claimed.

He asked Mayor James A. Rhodes for "special police protection" for his group. The mayor refused to see him. Then Hashmall went to Police Chief Charles Berry. Berry listened but refused "special protection." He ordered Hashmall out of his office when the Communist leader "launched into a tirade against the public."

On Monday Hashmall wrote another letter to Mayor Rhodes. He charged Columbus newspapers with "trying to promote a lynching spirit" and alleged the police had ignored his pleas for protection.

Police Captain Joseph Tibe, in urging the crowd to disperse last night admonished it against further depredations and said:

"That is what the Communist people want."

General Would Let Chiang and China "Stew" If He Were Alive Today.

(The following review of the Stilwell diaries was written by an Associated Press man who was a war correspondent two years in the China-Burma-India and allied southeast Asia commands.)

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW YORK, March 31—General Joseph W. Stilwell's story of his wartime battles with politicians finally has come to light in his own words.

His main target was Chiang Kai-Shek, who got Stilwell fired from China in October, 1944.

But in his diaries and selected letters to his wife, as published in the April Ladies' Home Journal, the general ranged over the whole field of allied politicians: Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill, and many more. He called Roosevelt "Old Softy." Stalin was "Bloody Joe."

Favored Chinese Reds

Stilwell was mainly disdainful of President Roosevelt's political personality; he blamed Mr. Roosevelt for being an "old softy" when the President reluctantly agreed with Chiang that Stilwell should leave China.

The diaries, now opened more than a year after Stilwell died in California and at a critical time of decision over American aid to fight communism in China, showed Stilwell in 1944 wrote favorably of the Chinese communist leadership in comparison with the Juomintang regime of Chiang in Chungking.

At this time Stilwell wrote:

"Chiang Kai-Shek can't see that the mass of Chinese people welcome the Reds as being the only visible hope of relief from crushing taxation, the abuses of the army and (the terror of) Tai Li's gestapo."

Chiang Regime Accused

Stilwell accused Chiang and his regime of corruption, graft, bureaucracy and other things that stalled the war effort. He preferred the communist movement for its land reforms and independent war effort against the Japanese and not because of any leaning toward communism as such. His aim, defeated by Chiang, was to unite the communist and Kuomintang armies in a common war effort, and let the future take care of itself. Stilwell referred to Chiang almost always as "The Peanut" but had other names for him too..

The editor of the diaries, ex-war correspondent Theodore H. White, student of Chinese affairs and friend of Stilwell, told this reviewer he believes Stilwell, if alive today, would counsel the U.S. government now to let China stew in its own juice of civil war.

"General Stilwell's basic conviction," White says, "was that no amount of aid or arms could save China unless the Chinese people theselves throw out corruption in their government."

CAMPUS JOB SERVICE AUGMENTED BY BUC

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—A program designed to aid Ohio college placement agencies to find jobs for graduates and drop-outs will be launched by the state bureau of unemployment compensation Aril 5 when its 31 representatives begin taking job applications of college students.

The program to aid graduates and drop-outs find jobs under increasingly competitive conditions is being carried through by the Ohio state employment service, a BUC division, in cooperation with the veterans employment service.

Frank J. Collopy, BUC administrator, said a recent veterans employment service survey reflected the need for a stepped-up coligee placement program when it revealed that the number of Ohio veteran graduates alone would double within the next two years.

Registration of college seniors and other students interested in participating in the job placement program is expected to be completed in 42 Ohio colleges and universities by April 24, Collopy said. The registration will be handled by the employment service representatives in personal interviews on the various college campuses.

The program's primary objective, Collopy said, is to assist veterans to "find a job with a future." He emphasized, however, that non-veteran students will be given the same consideration.

"Vast sums of money have been spent in training the veterans who will complete their education within the next few years," the BUC administrator said. "We believe that everything possible should be done to assist these men and women to find jobs and to realize a return on this investment of time, money and effort.

Was Former I.W.W.

A one-time militant Socialist and I.W.W. in the Pacific northwest, he has dug deep to get at the facts which have escaped the understanding of both employers and employes and in his speeches he lays down these facts in plain language balanced against the popular fallacies which they supplant. He is an out-spoken foe of communism. "He delivers an address which is a sensation and an inspiration," is an outstanding statement in accounts of his public appearances.

Friend of Harding

Mr. Rogers' close friendship with the late President Harding dates back to 1920, when Rogers was economic editor of Outlook magazine, which supported Harding for the presidency. Mr. Rogers succeeded Theodore Roosevelt on Outlook's editorial staff. He was in Marion frequently during the presidential campaign.

Mr. Rogers has had a wide experience in a colorful and interesting career. He spent 13 years as a lumber-jack in the Pacific northwest and was a hard-rock miner in Buttee Mont., and Kinnecott, Alaska and an Alaskan dog-team driver during two winters. He spent a year as a cow-puncher in Wyoming. Rogers wrote some special articles on labor for the Saturday Evening Post, was associate editor of Liberty Magazine three years, wrote a column for a group of southern newspapers and was awarded a prize for the best article of the year from Readers' Digest.

Holds Question Forum

At the conclusion of his address to the MPS foremen and their guests here, April 3, Mr. Rogers will answer all questions asked by his audience, in a general forum discussion.

The meeting here will be under the sponsorship of Marion Power Shovel Company's Formen's club officers, who are Joseph Johnson, president; Jack Weis, program committee chairman; Richard D. Myers, entertainment committee chairman; Robert Conley, secretary, and Everett Miller, treasurer.

Although they sometimes prayed to horses, American Indians treated them cruely as a rule.

Hits Federal Oil Control Proposals

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—Proposals for government control of the oil industry were attacked at the Ohio Petroleum association convention here today.

"Let us keep the consumer in the driver's seat," W. W. Vandeveer of Cleveland, president of the Allied Oil Co., urged in a speech prepared for the annual meeting.

"If we take our orders from him, we won't be liquidated by a Kremlin in Washington or Moscow," he added.

Vandeveer said some members of congress wanted to nationalize the oil industry.

"We can be thankful," he added, "that this drift to government dominance of our economic life has not been completed."

GALION EXPECTS FIFTH MORE SPENDING IN '48

Special to The Star

GALION, March 31—Because of increase in price of supplies, wage hikes to employes in several departments, and the cost for extensive repairs at the municipally owned light plant, the city of Galion expects to spend about $109,961 more this year than in 1947.

City council met in special session Tuesday night to pass the annual appropriation ordinance for the remaining nine months. The ordinance appropriated a grand total of $561,341.60 for the remainder of the year. This figure, plus that of $186,838.60 which was the amount of the temporary appropriation ordinance passed earlier in the year for the first three months, expiring April 1, brings the total for the year to $748,180.20.

Last year's appropriation ordinance called for $638,218.90. However, City Auditor Gloyd A. Frye explained today that the city supplemented the original ordinance last year even more than the $109,961 difference noted above, and of course, this year's ordinance is likely to need adjustments, too, he said.

OHIO COURT AGREES TO RULE ON BINGO

Special to The Star

COLUMBUS, March 31—The state supreme court today agreed to rule on the constitutionality of the Ohio law which permits bingo games and other forms of gambling for charitable purposes.

The high court admitted to review the state's appeal in the case of Murray S. Parker of Akron, who was charged on a gambling count.

The defendant demurred to the charge in common pleas court on the ground that the state legislature had added the words "for his own profit" to the state's anti-gambling statute. He contended that his "Keeno" game was operated for charitable purposes and not "for his own profit," and therefore that he had not violated the law.

The trial court sustained the demurrer and threw out the charge against him. The decision was affirmed by the court of appeals. The prosecution's appeal to the supreme court followed.

The court held that a person cannot sue for damages because she was the object of profane remarks. The ruling was in the case of Kathryn V. Bartow who had sued R. D. Smith for $5,000 charging that he slandered her by giving her a tongue lashing in public in Norwalk.

ere 49 years ago. y of 17 then," he used to plow the es—almost like you in the land." the way American emen had been do- the colonial days. And of the ice harvest of community celebra- was the corn harvest. Bear Creek area Albert unlettered man of en- became a multi-mil- lumber baron, built a four dams to create more surface for his ice business.

TWO HUNDRED MEN were busy cutting the ice for 50 boxcars that waited each to rush it to the New York itan area.

"Sometimes a horse would hit soft spot in the ice and fall in," Hawke, "and it would five or six men to pry him again. In all the years I've here I know of only one that drowned."

The spread of artificial refrigeration in recent years has taken away most of the market for natural ice. Two of the dams here have fallen into decay.

Today ice harvesting is a completely mechanized business. Tractors replaced the horse. They sweep the lake free of snow and automatic machines mark and cut the ice. It is then floated down in blocks to "the gallery," a wooden superstructure on which the ice is carried up by bucket chain to the storehouses.

As it moves up the gallery a series of knives trims the ice into 250-pound blocks. The blocks are stored in rows 32 feet high and covered with hay to protect them from the heat.

"WE USED SAWDUST in the old days," said Hawke, "but the hay is cleaner and easier to handle."

The ice harvest season begins shortly after Christmas and lasts only six weeks.

"This was a cold winter and the ice was 22 inches thick," Hawke said, "but in my time I've seen 30-inch ice here. About 11 or 12-inch ice is the best to work with."

Once the ice is cut and stored only three or four men are needed to care for it until it is sold. Hotels, meat shops and dairies are the chief buyers. The price has fallen as low as 75 cents a ton whole sale, now is about $5.

By his wintry labors on the lake Hawke has raised a large family. But he believes ice harvesting is on the way to becoming a vanished Yankee industry.

"Each year it falls off a little more," he said. His voice held a note of regret, for he has put his own lifetime into this dying business.

Does natural ice have any advantage over artificial ice? Hawke thought a moment, then say loyally:

"Well, some people say it makes a colder highball."

Plus China and Spain

THE decision of the house of representatives to add Spain to the beneficiaries of the foreign aid program raises a question of the program's ultimate scope.

China already has been added as an afterthought. Spain now is proposed as a likely addition. Great Britain, France, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Eire, Iceland, Italy, Luxemburg, Norway, the Netherlands, Portugal, Sweden, Switzerland and Turkey, the original 16, could be further augmented, of course, by the Soviet Union and its satellites, if the Kremlin reversed its policy of opposition. It's not beyond the realm of possibility that some of the Latin American countries might be added, if the issue of communism crops out in a dangerous form in the new world.

The United States, already committed to heavy spending in Germany and Japan under its military budget, might feel called on to give direct assistance to every government promising to give a certain amount of cooperation under the foreign aid program in return for a share of aid. Perhaps Spain belongs in the program. Perhaps China belongs in it. But either now or later, congress will have to decide how inclusive the program is going to be.

Election in Czechoslovakia

THE Gottwald cabinet has chosen May 23 as the date for the election of a new Czechoslovak parliament. Czechoslovakia has had no nation election since 1946 when the Communists polled 38 per cent of the vote. Their coup of Feb. 23-25 guarantees that the percentage on May 23 will be more substantial.

In preparation for the balloting, Interior Minister Nosek has drafted new voting regulations. Not all Czechs will vote. Among those to be disenfranchised are all who "oppose the interests of the republic and the people's democracy." And who will decide who those opponents are? Why, Minister Nosek, of course. "Our elections will be truly democratic," he confidently predicts.

Also optimistic is Rudolph Slansky, Czech Communist secretary general, who predicts the Communists will poll a great majority. No doubt they will. It will be a majority of the size seen only in states where a Communist interior minister, or similar functionary, decides who is qualified to vote.

Long Range Worrying

WHILE the clash of ideologies and power politics make the headlines, Fairfield Osborn deals with a less spectacular idea, but one which he believes is as explosive as a rack of fission bombs.

Mr. Osborn, president of the New York Zoological society, has written a book entitled "Our Plundered Planet," in which he says an unreasoning conflict with nature is more likely to destroy man than is war by another century, after comparing the population increase to the loss of arable land through misuses.

Organic materials move steadily toward the cities where they are disposed of as waste and never replaced on the land which produced them. Chemical fertilizers are only partly effective. Mr. Osborn doesn't offer a remedy but he says one will have to be found if civilization is to survive. He says we shall have to accept the fact that mankind, "like all other living things, is part of one great biological scheme."

Those who place their faith in atomic energy, chemurgy and hydroponics are playing long shots, in Mr. Osborn's opinion. The idea that man, being inherently good, deserves to survive, isn't enough. Neither is hoping that things will turn out for the best. Mr. Osborn has exploited an idea which shows that even if every trouble spot in the world were cleared up, the human race still would have a formidable task on its hands. That task is making peace with nature by restoring its regenerative balance.

Memorable Date in History

THIS is a serious editorial, written to commemorate countless wounds and endless suffering inflicted on innocent victims of a great modern oversight—the failure of auto manufacturers to standardize the height of bumpers.

It was inevitable that the stylishly low bumpers on Mr. Zillion's new eight-cylinder purrmaster would slip under the high guard rails on Joe Clunk's rusty heap in a parking collision and get caught there. It was inevitable that thousands of man-hours would be frittered away while countless motorists cursed, tugged heaved and hauled. Anyone with an ounce of sense could have seen that was bound to happen, but until recently there hadn't been an ounce of sense in the vast-sprawling motor car industry.

It was not until March 24, 1948 that the Society of Automotive Engineers, which sets standards for the industry, tardily agreed that automobile bumpers should be 18.25 inches from the ground. It will be years before the result reaches the public, but March 24, 1948 should be memorized by school children in the meantime.

Although it is commonly believed that strong gales may be expected at the time of the equinox—when the sun apparently crosses the celestial equator—continued observations have failed to show any unusual prevalence of storms at this season.

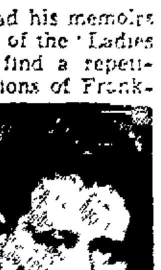
Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Stilwell Story Adds Little to China Situation.

WHEN I heard that General Joseph W. Stilwell's experiences in China were to be published, I anticipated a vicious, bitter attack on Chiang Kai-shek For Stilwell and Chiang never understood each other, were temperamentally and by training unsuited to work together, and finally were separated in an outburst of anger.

However, as I read his memoirs in the current issue of the "Ladies Home Journal," I find a repetition of the impressions of Franklin D. Roosevelt that have already appeared in the Byrnes, Farley, Flynn, Hull and Stimson memoirs, which, in effect, comes down to this: Roosevelt tried to do everything himself, was not always informed, played all sides against the middle, and kept his subordinates and associates in a gay but disastrous chaos.



SOKOLSKY

What General Stilwell has to say of Chiang Kai-shek, whom he calls "Peanut," Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Madame H. H. Kung and T. V. Soong is mere private judgment of persons he did not understand and did not like. I have known these four individuals longer and more intimately than General Stilwell. I knew them not only when they achieved position but also when they were young and not involved in great affairs. General Stilwell has overdrawn their very human weaknesses; he has not even approached the strength and character which stimulated a creative power, making it possible for Chiang, in 1925, to move in on anarchy in Canton, following Sun Yat-Sen's death; fighting through the Communist revolution of 1925-27, when Soviet Russia was actually directing the affairs of China through Michael Borodin and General Galens-Bluecher, experimenting in China with the devices which were finally perfected in Poland and Czechoslovakia. Nor does Stilwell say a word of the genius in compromise which made it possible for Chiang to force feudal lords and revolutionary generals, any one of whom was more powerful than he was, to accept his leadership and to recognize the authority of the Nanking government. I know of these things because I took part in them.

Nor does Stilwell explain how it could be that Chiang was able to hold China together against all the power and might of Japan from Sept. 18, 1931, to Dec. 7, 1941, when Pearl Harbor brought us into the war. China and Chiang stood alone those ten years, fighting as best they could, betrayed by Chinese feudal lords and politicians and by the very Communists whom Stilwell would have had Chiang include in his government. Nor does Stilwell explain the current phenomenon (he could not, of course, as he is dead) that despite a war with Soviet Russia, despite abandonment by the United States due to George Marshall's mistaken notions, despite a devastating inflation which originated in an unfortunate American silver policy and crazy British and American ideas concerning managed currencies, Chiang Kai-shek still stands and China has not been conquered by either Japan or Soviet Russia.

To me, the interesting fact is that General Stilwell discloses how miserably we assisted Chiang Kai-shek during the war. Stilwell wrote his wife.

". . . You know I have a little job to do over here, so I asked for a few tools to do it with. I have tried it once without any tools and it didn't work, so I reminded our folks of some promises and made what I thought was a very modest request. You should have seen the answer. Peanut and I are on a raft, with one sandwich between us, and the rescue ship is heading away from the scene . . . ."

Another Letter

Again he wrote her:

". . Got back from Cairo day before yesterday, we got the usual answers down there and after Bloody Joe (Stalin) got through laying down the law up there at Teheran, we were lucky to get away with our shirts."

When Franklin D. Roosevelt was speaking to the American people of what we were doing for China, we were not doing it. General Stilwell, his successor, General Wedemeyer, Pat Hurley were sent there to arouse hopes but were not permitted to produce results and they wondered that Chiang Kai-shek, who knew the problem, was shocked that they were granting Soviet Russia the power to conquer China through the Chinese Communists! It all adds to the record of Franklin D. Roosevelt's duplicity.

A Bad Primary Law

By Raymond Moley

FOR half a century Wisconsin has been a laboratory of experiments in government. Many Wisconsin innovations have been copied by other states and have been excellent. Some, however, have been bad, and the worst is the Wisconsin primary law.

The essential evil of this law will appear on April 6, when Dewey, Stassen and MacArthur will contest for delegates to the national Republican convention. This primary will be big national news and it will have a heavy bearing on the Republican party's choice of a candidate.

MOLEY

Under the Wisconsin law, voters in a primary may, without declaring their choice, vote for either Republican or Democratic delegates. Hence, in such a primary as the forthcoming one. Democrats with no real contest in their own party may vote for a Republican. It is assumed by Dewey supporters that a great majority of Democrats who will cast Republican votes will choose MacArthur. Independents who switch back and forth will, it is believed, likewise vote MacArthur. Thus, the handicap imposed on Stassen and Dewey is very great, since they have both become clearly identified as strictly Republican.

Republicans in Wisconsin are therefore prevented from making a deliberate choice in what should be a party primary. If such a law prevailed in all states, party government would be almost impossible to maintain, and party responsibility would be nil.

Appraisal of Situation

If the Wisconsin primary were restricted to Republicans, Dewey would probably get most of the delegates; Stassen would be a good second and MarArthur would be third. As it stands, MacArthur is likely to get a majority of the delegates; Dewey will probably get from 6 to 12 of the 27 in the state; and Stassen will probably get a lesser number. This is the estimate of qualified observers at this time. There may be changes later.

A personal campaign by Dewey would help him a great deal. Until recently, he took it for granted that he could not go. His duties in Albany are very heavy because of the 30-day period in which he must act on bills passed by the legislature. His advisers have urged the advantage of showing himself in Wisconsin and of making a number of aggressive speeches.

MacArthur Handicapped

In evaluating the results in Wisconsin, a heavy discount must be levied against a MacArthur success. The real test will be the relative showing of Dewey and Stassen. It must be borne in mind that this is perhaps the only place where MacArthur can hope to get a considerable number of delegates. Despite strident support in certain newspapers, information from various parts of the country indicates no real MacArthur sentiment. And what there is can hardly be increased by what the general can say on the issues.

In Wisconsin it is said that MacArthur is against universal military training What can he say publicly on this subject? He is still in government service, and the President is all out for UMT. This is only one of many subjects on which it will be hard for MacArthur to take a stand. And no candidate is likely to be nominated whose views are limited to generalities—however nobly they may be expressed.

More Schools Needed

AMERICAN SCHOOLS — like the old woman who lived in the shoe—have so many children they don't know what to do.

What's more, experts of the U. S. Office of Education figure that things are going to get worse for the next six years or longer.

Official announcement that 3,000,000 babies were born last year is giving far-sighted educators new worries This number considerably exceeds previous estimates for 1947. It tops by 500,000 the previous record birth of 3,400,000 in 1946.

Dr. John W. Studebaker, U. S commissioner of education, says this means the country's classrooms will be bursting with pupils in a few years unless something is done—and soon.

He estimates that about 3,660,000 of last year's bumper baby crop will be going to school for the first time in 1953. He figures the public school system will need about 80,000 more first-grade teachers and a like number of additional classrooms to get these youngsters properly started on their three R's.

But that is only the beginning as Mr. Studebaker sees it. Pupils are staying in school longer, he points out. This means an overall increase in school population which will continue for many years.

At least $10,000,000,000 in school construction and untold hundreds of thousands of new teachers will be needed in the next 12 years to get the schools in shape for the 1960 pupil load, according to his estimates.

Mr Studebaker, however, is particularly concerned with the first-grade outlook

"I used to be a bricklayer," the country's No 1 schoolmaster explains "I discovered then that the superstructure isn't worth much without a strong foundation. It's the same in schooling."

It is obvious, he explains, that the school system can do most for the children in the earlier grades, provided it has the personnel and equipment.

For this reason, Mr. Studebaker is renewing his plea for qualified primary grade teachers to get the same consideration as teachers of higher grades when it comes to pay.

Mr. Studebaker also would like to see better teachers get better pay all along the line. He recalls that he once was forced to lay bricks in the summer "so I could afford to teach in the winter."

Arms for Western Union

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

THE next step in the hardening American response to Soviet expansion is likely to be a revival of military lend-lease. The purpose of this step will be to give weight and meaning to "Western Union," the alliance of Britain, France and the Benelux countries. The measure has already been discussed at the highest level. The signs are that it will eventually be approved, and that the main question now is one of timing.

In fact, the whole question was thoroughly threshed out in a cabinet meeting before the President's recent speech to the congress. Serious consideration was given to including a flat recommendation for revived military lend-lease in the President's speech. It was unanimously agreed in the cabinet that some such step might eventually be both necessary and desirable. Yet it was finally decided that it would be a mistake to bring forward the proposal now. This decision was taken for two reasons.

The first reason was the thoroughly practical matter of the probable reaction in the congress There were no illusions in the cabinet that the draft and universal military training sections of the President's speech would be greeted with cheers. Many congressmen would obviously be tempted to seize on a lend-lease proposal as a painless way out of the hard necessities of the situation. Secretary of State George C. Marshall feared that rearming of the western European countries would seem a politically agreeable substitute for the rearming of the United States.

Matter of Initiative

Second, as Marshall pointed out to the cabinet, the proposal would be premature. Western Union, at the time of the President's speech, was still in the process of being born. An immediate American offer to arm the signers of the Western Union pact would inevitably be seized upon by the the Soviet Union and the Communists. It would be displayed as further evidence of "American Imperialism," and of an American desire to use the Europeans as "cannon fodder" in a war against the Soviets. Such an American offer thus might well be deeply embarrassing to the European leaders. Therefore, Marshall argued that the initiative must come from the Europeans themselves.

In fact, there have already been unofficial and tentative approaches from the French, looking toward American aid in reequipping the weak French army. The military weakness of the French is symptomatic of the almost total military vacuum which now exists in western Europe. Most of the effective French forces are committed in Indo-China and North Africa. A mere handful of French troops remain on the Continent, and their equipment is for the most part either non-existent or obsolete. Few of the experts, including the French themselves, doubt that in case of war France, with the rest of Europe, could be quickly and easily occupied by the Red Army. That is why serious consideration is now being given at the highest levels in Washington to a possible American offer to re-equip completely ten French divisions

Just a Start

If this step is taken, it will be only the first in a series of measures designed to help western Europe regain, to use a favorite phrase of Secretary Marshall's, "a military posture." Yet such an undertaking by the United States will in turn pose a number of problems of the gravest importance.

In the first place, a United States commitment to help rearm the western European countries can only be fulfilled if American armaments production is greatly increased. A partial American industrial mobilization might therefore be necessary. In the second place, military lend-lease to the Western Union nations will mean in fact that a tight military alliance has been concluded between this country and western Europe.

Joint Planning Required

Such an alliance will call for joint planning between the military staffs of the United States and of the European countries. Detailed plans must be envolved for the over-all strategy, and for the disposition of troops and equipment in case of war. Two approaches to this problem are possible Joint planning is already going forward between the United States and Britain, in the existing Anglo - American combined chiefs of staff, with headquarters in Washington This could simply be enlarged to include France and the Benelux countries, as well as Italy, if Italy eventually joins Western Union. On the other hand, the Western Union pact opens the way for a European combined staff. Such a staff could be created, probably in Paris, and American officers attached to it.

To Each His Own Insanity

A Los Angeles citizen is going to marry his mother-in-law.

It's not only politics that makes strange bed fellows.

I've heard of consorting with the enemy, but never before of romancing with your mother-in-law.

Of course, mothers-in-law have gone on honeymoons before . . . but always in an advisory capacity.

Apparently, the citizen wanted a girl just like the girl that married dear old dad-in-law.

And, undeniably, it'll have its advantages: Being his own father-in-law, for instance, he can list himself as a dependent on his income tax return.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: I was reading in the paper t other day that the death rate for men in cities and towns is a fourth larger than it is in t country. Women do a little better. It is only a eighth larger for women. Why do you suppos this is?

Well, I'll tell you. It's because of distractions People in towns have more distractions tha they can handle. They are always doing thin on the double-quick. The strain is more tha they can bear. It's like putting a two-ton load o a half-ton truck. You can get away with it onc in a while but if you do it all the time somethin will break. The truck wasn't built for it.

The tip to what happens is the fact it's mos heart disease that knocks off the overloade city gents. The anxiety of dodging traffic, pes women shoppers and bill collectors is too mu for them. They have jumped halfway out their skins too many times when telephone rang, sirens screamed and the boss yelled "He you, come here!" They've worried too mu about punching in on time and getting hom for supper.

They've got their dander up too often as th result of being in contact with annoying peo and annoying circumstances. All this is con and there's nothing can be done about it, bu it's something to think about when people ar comparing life in town and life in the coun The whole thing's as fundamental as that st about the country mouse and the city mouse

People in the country work hard—not as har as they used to before tractors and electric but still harder than the ordinary run of ci folks. But they work under better condit Mostly, they make their own decisions. I th that's important. And they have plenty of ti to think things through. A man plowing 40-acre field has time to think all the w through the Einstein theory of relativity if wants to. There are no distractions, except hitting a stone occasionally and keeping an on what the wild life may be doing

I'll give you 10 to 1 odds that half the ci slickers complaining about their assorted m eries and running to the doctor for physic checkups could quit worrying about themse if they lived on a farm, or at least in the coun like me. Of course they can't do it. They are tied up in their complicated affairs and do know how to get out of them—which is o more thing they have to worry about I ju thought I'd mention this to you because I kn where there are a couple dandy farms for sa mostly by farmers getting toward 50 years o and itching to sell out and spend the rest their lives taking things easy.

Give our regards to your family and I ho you have a nice Easter.

PAROLE COMMISSION HEAD SPEAKS HERE

R. A. Younger Discusses Procedure Before Rotary Club.

Raymond A. Younger of Celina, chairman of the parole commission of Ohio and grand master of the Ohio Masonic grand lodge, F. and A. M., was speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary club at Hotel Harding Tuesday.

He outlined the procedure of the parole commission, explaining that cases considered include personal interviews with those serving sentences. Five investigators are employed by the commission, and these go to home counties of prisoners to gather facts regarding cases which require especially thorough inquiry.

Mr. Younger is a former common pleas judge of Mercer county, serving from 1938 until his appointment to the parole board in 1946.

Dale Hughes was introduced as a new member of the Rotary club.

Guests of the club in addition to the speaker were J. D. Williams and David Frew, both of Marion.

Marlee Lust was student reporter from the Harding High school journalism classes.

Help for High Blood Pressure

Conquest of the ills which come with advancing age is the goal which modern medical science has set itself. While victory is still far on, the great amount of research being done along these lines today holds great promise.

One of the most important of the problems affecting the health of middle-aged and elderly people is high blood pressure. If it could be solved, hundreds of thousands of men and women could be saved from illness and death.

So far we have not been able to discover the exact cause of high blood pressure. Many theories have been advanced. Of these, the one now most in favor holds that it is due to spasm of the muscular walls of the network of blood vessels in the abdomen known as the splanchnic vascular region. These muscles are controlled by certain nerves of the involuntary nervous system. It is an increase in the action of these nerves that is responsible for the tightening up of the arteries.

Some surgeons have devised an operation for the relief of high blood pressure which involves the cutting of the over-stimulating nerves. While it does not bring about a cure of the high blood pressure it does seem, in many instances, to lessen the severity of the symptoms and to prolong life.

Just which patients should be selected for the operation is often a difficult matter to determine. However, there is no question that when there is extensive damage to the kidney present, the operation should not be performed. Furthermore, it should not be done when there is extensive hardening of the arteries, a condition which often accompanies high blood pressure. The operation is not often performed in those over fifty years of age.

Thus, Drs. Paul G. Flothow and Hunter J. MacKay of Seattle, Washington, think that any patient under fifty years of age, who suffers from high blood pressure without any great degree of hardening of the arteries or loss of kidney function, should be given the benefit of this type of operation.

The operation may be carried out in various ways. Some favor cutting of the nerves both within the chest cavity and within the abdomen. It would appear that with this procedure the results are somewhat better than with the cutting of the nerves in either area alone.

A number of tests have been suggested to determine whether or not the operation will give beneficial results. These consist of giving the patient one of various preparations which put him to sleep, and determining the blood pressure both before and after the preparation is given. If a drop in the blood pressure occurs while the patient is asleep, it is felt that the operation will be beneficial.

Questions and Answers

S. O.: Will you please tell me something about tularemia? How long does the serum given remain in the system?

Answer: Tularemia is a disease caused by a germ known as the bacillus tularensis, which is transmitted to man by handling infected animals. Rabbits, particularly, are infected. Certain lice or fleas also carry the disease to man.

The general symptoms are chills, fever, and weakness; in some cases, death results. There is not much which can be done to prevent the disease, although those who handle rabbits should wear gloves whenever possible. Of course, all rabbit meat should be thoroughly cooked.

The serum which is given in the treatment of the disease would exert its effect within a short period of time. It would cause no difficulty in the body no matter how long it remained.

FAMILY DOCTORS IN NEW OHIO ACADEMY

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 31—General practitioners and specialists held sessions today as the annual meeting of the Ohio Medical association went into its second day.

The general practitioners last night formed the Ohio Academy of General Practice and selected Dr. Joseph W. Lindner of Cincinnati president for the first year.

The formation of the general practice group came after a house of delegates meeting at which Dr. Ralph L. Rutledge, president of the state association, indicated general practice was not being given needed emphasis.

Dr. Rutledge reported the association's committee on rural health had discovered that but 14 of 591 third and fourth year medical students in Ohio were planning rural practices.

Dr. Paul Davis of Akron, president of the American Academy of General Practice, presented a charter to the Ohio group, the twenty-first state group organized in the nation.

In the opening session today the general practitioners heard Dr. Leon Goldman of Cincinnati on hand disease and Dr. Wyman C. C. Cole of the department of pediatrics, Women's Hospital of Detroit, on the advisability of breast feeding.

Other officers of the Ohio Academy of General Practice include: Dr. Craig Bowman of Upper Sandusky, member of the board of directors.

A takeoff mishap, damaged his four-engine C-87 plane.

No one was injured, but the minor damage to the plane would take weeks to repair, even if parts could be found here, he explained.

MUNITIONS PLANT SALES ARE HALTED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—The government soon may take the "For Sale" sign off more of its wartime munitions plants.

The War Assets administration is expecting orders this week to withdraw from the surplus market a new group of powder and ordnance works, government officials reported privately today. Ten were withdrawn on March 20.

In addition, WAA now is surveying its list of Army camps, naval stations and air fields to be ready to "freeze" their disposal in case the armed forces want to put them back in service.

This survey was started after President Truman asked Congress for universal military training and a temporary draft which would put thousands of new trainees in service.

On March 20, the Army requested WAA to halt the sale of ten ordnance plants, all designed for explosives production. Within a few hours WAA cancelled all negotiaions by telegram.

On that list were the ordnance works at Point Pleasant, W. Va., Sandusky, O., Paducah, Ky., Pryor, Okla., Weldon Springs, Mo., Baldwinsville, N. Y., Youngstown, N. Y., Rosemont, Minn., Baraboo, Wis., and Meadville, Pa.

Coal Strikes Cripple Steel Production

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—The coal strike has seriously crippled the steel industry, the Iron Age said today.

The metal-working trade weekly commented:

"There is a chance that the industry will not better last year's steel production of 85 million tons. It had been hoped that close to 90 million tons would be produced this year."

Even worse than the further shortage of steel and pig iron, the publication said, "the steel industry today faces rigid government allocation of steel similar to wartime controls."

"I am hoping with you that when election time comes next fall that your candidates will be successful and I want you to know on behalf of your representatives in Washington that they are counting on you people out here among the voters of our land to see that the right President and the right majority goes back to congress in the fall to carry high the flag of our nation and the banner of the Democratic party."

Police Stand Guard At Stock Exchange

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—Police stood shoulder to shoulder at the entrance to the New York stock exchange today to prevent any recurrence of yesterday's violence in the financial workers' strike.

Members of the striking AFL financial employe union and of the AFL seamen's unions, who joined them on the picket line, were on hand long before the 10 a. m. hour of opening.

The same three pickets who stood before the exchange's main entrance at 11 Wall Street when the battling began yesterday walked in a tight circle in front of the doorway today.

OUSTED POLICE TRIO IN STATE APPEAL

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 31—Three Cleveland policemen, discharged for attending the wedding of a numbers racket figure, indicated today they would fight dismissal with appeals to the civil service commission next week.

The trio, ousted late yesterday by Safety Director William F. Smith, included Lt. Ernest L. Molnar, Sgt. Richard G. Ford and Patrolman William P. Myers.

Smith called the men a "disgrace to the uniform" and promised prompt dismissal of any member of the force who associated with criminals other than in strict line of duty.

Testimony showed the three attended the wedding of policy mobster Fletcher Hudson, signed the wedding certificate as witnesses, and visited cafes and attended a reception with the wedding party after the ceremony. Hudson is now in county jail under a six-to-45 year penitentiary sentence for kidnaping and assault to kill.

In defense, the trio said they attended the nuptials "out of curiosity" and in the hope of obtaining information.

"There will be no special police protection for this anti-religious group in this city." Berry asserted.

He remarked further:

"Columbus is a peace-loving and church-going community and the city administration is not going to tolerate any Communists, Communist front or any organization interfering with our way of living if it is humanly possible."

Will File Damage Suit, Say Communists

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., March 31—The Communist party announced today it would file a damage suit against the Columbus Citizen and Franklin county for the wrecking of party leader Frank Hashmall's home.

In a statement, Gus Hall, chairman of the Communist party of Ohio, said:

The "mob attack was inspired by the Citizen (a Columbus newspaper) and carried through by a German Nazi element, a military organization at Fort Hayes, and followers of the Association of Catholic Trade Unionists.

"The civil suit will include damages not only to property but injury to the health of the wife of Frank Hashmall and their eight-month-old baby."

"This act of Fascism in Columbus had the full approval of the chief of police and the mayor of Columbus. If Governor Herbert has any sense of responsibility for civil rights he will suspend them from office."

Hall said he returned yesterday from Columbus where he had been making an investigation of Hashmall's case. Hashmall describes himself as chairman of the Columbus Communist party.

Hall said the suit would be filed "under the law on mob violence."

In Columbus Don Weaver, editor of the Citizen, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, said:

"We have repeatedly cautioned in editorials against demonstration such as last night's" (the ransacking of Hashmall's house).

UNIONS GRAPPLING WITH RAIL WAGES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 31—Wages and rules committees of three rail unions came here today to consider an emergency board's recommendations for averting a nationwide railroad strike.

Although the committees have no authority to accept or reject the findings, it was believed any action they took would have an important bearings on the unions' final decision.

The presidential board last Saturday recommended the three—locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen, and switchmen — be given a 15½-cent hourly pay boost. It also approved some of their requested rule changes.

The nation's railroads already have accepted the recommendations.

Some 125,000 workers would be affected.

A final decision on the report is expected to be reached by the unions following a meeting here Monday of their general chairmen.

Under the railroad labor act, a strike could not start until after April 26.

Meanwhile, wages and rules committees of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the order of Railroad Conductors were expected to conclude at three-day meeting today.

The two unions settled their dispute with the carriers last fall by accepting a 15½-cent wage increase and certain rule changes.

They now are considering seeking additional pay boosts and rule changes.

COURT ORDER OBEYED BY PRINTERS' UNION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 31—The International Typographical Union has officially reversed its bargaining policy to obey a federal court order.

New instructions to ITU local unions were completed last night. They are expected to be mailed from the union's Indianapolis headquarters today or tomorrow.

The 850 local unions are told to offer full-year contracts to the nation's newspaper publishers and print shops.

These contracts would allow the hiring of non-union printers who pass "competency" tests.

Government lawyers discussed the new instructions with a union lawyer, Henry Kaiser, for three and a half hours here last night and finally pronounced them in compliance with the injunction.

Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert had issued this decree Saturday at Indianapolis.

He found a "probability" that the ITU was violating the Taft-Hartley act. He ordered the union to stop trying to cause newspaper publishers to discriminate against non-union men in hiring.

The judge also ordered the union to stop fostering the policy under which it advised local unions not to sign any contract unless it could be cancelled on 60 days' notice.

Loses 39 Lbs. Regains Curves Says Painesville Lady

Flossie Tuttle, R. D. 4 Midway Blvd., Painesville, Ohio writes, "I was just plain fat weighing 177 lbs. and being only 5 ft. 3 inches tall. Since taking Rennel I have lost 39 lbs. and feel better; more pep and full of life. No more puffing and blowing. Rennel has done me worlds of good. Those hidden curves are all mine again and I have not known a hungry moment while reducing. My motto is 'Be faithful to Rennel' and I am very sincere in my praise for this reducer."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomfort of being overweight. Why not try this effective yet inexpensive method of reducing and enjoy the pleasures of feeling younger and more alive. Try Rennel and notice the admiring looks you will receive from your friends as your figure becomes younger and your vitality increases. Just go to your druggist and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough unsweetened grapefruit juice to fill the bottle and then take two tablespoonfuls a day. That's all there is to it. If you aren't satisfied with the results return the empty bottle to the manufacturer and your money will be refunded. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist on the genuine Rennel.

[illegible] Institutions Say Rate of Interest Should Be More.

By The Associated Press

[illegible], O., March 31—[illegible] veterans are in the middle of [illegible] lending institutions [illegible] GI loan interest rates, [illegible] executive George Stur-[illegible]

[illegible] chief of the veterans [illegible]'s three-state loan [illegible] here, yesterday [illegible] GI loans in Ohio, Kentucky [illegible] fell off 25 per cent [illegible] the last two months.

The decline in GI loans is definitely an attempt on the part of [illegible] institutions to force up [illegible] rates," he asserted.

Congress provided that all veterans loans be at four per cent [illegible].

Sturgeon said many banks and [illegible] companies "feel the general stiffening of interest rates [illegible] include GI loans."

"They say," he continued, "that [illegible] per cent is too low for a veteran's loan and they are holding [illegible] for higher interest."

[illegible] Parsons, secretary of the Ohio association of real estate boards, and a spokesman for the Ohio bankers association differed.

Parsons said he knew of no organized movement to reject GI loans because of the interest rates. He credited buyer resistance to high real estate prices for any GI loan application slump.

The bank association spokesman agreed, saying:

"Prices in most cases are too high and people feel, for example, if they wait maybe they can buy the same house for less."

Sturgeon said many veterans still need homes and if loan rejections increase, it's going to be congress' baby again. He said two things can be done: (1) Increase the interest rate or (2) Provide a secondary market for loans by having government agencies handle them.

Increased Spending

He attributed the "campaign" for higher interest rates to the "inevitable economic statute—supply and demand."

"When the war ended," he said, "there was an accumulated credit reserve derived from deposits and other cash reserves. People began to spend a good deal of their savings on things they were unable to buy during the war.

"The banks joined in the construction boom by investing in mortgage loans," he continued. "The money shrank as the demand for mortgage loans increased. That led to the demand for higher interest rates. As a result many loans are being turned down."

WALLACE DRAWS CROWDS, CAMERAS IN WASHINGTON. Testifying before the senate armed services committee in Washington, Henry A. Wallace (left) denounces President Truman's draft-UMT request as a "program of aggression." Wallace supporters jammed the corridors and newsreel and television cameras recorded the scene.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

TWO shuddering pieces of information have been made known to the public in the past few days:

1. That we have an "adequate" supply of atomic bombs.
2. That we have enough radioactive material—if used "effectively"—to wipe human life off the earth.

It was a congressman—Rep. Keefe, Wisconsin Republican—who let it be known today that we have an "adequate" supply of bombs.

James Marlow

It was Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat, who told of the radioactive material in an article this week in Collier's magazine.

Keefe made his statement after listening to David E. Lilienthal, head of the government's atomic energy program, talk to a house committee.

What Keefe said raises bloodchilling questions:

An "adequate" supply of bombs for what? War with one country? Russia, for instance? War against a number of countries? Kill how many people? Destroy how many cities?

How many bombs do we have? How many do our military men think are "adequate?" That's a top government secret.

In his Collier's article McMahon said:

"The United States of America now has above ground sufficient radio-active material so that, were it effectively applied, all human life on the planet would be annihilated. We have on order various means for such application.

"WE HAVE ON hand now materials and means whereby if we chose we could extinguish every living thing in an area such as my own New England.

"We have on hand now materials which, if used in certain fashions, would destroy the reproductive faculties of our whole nation, leaving the American people sterile and barren, or capable of birthing only monsters, and sons and daughters with broken genes, so that our line would perish."

The Washington Post, commenting on this editorially said the McMahon piece came as a "shock."

McMahon is a member of the senate-house committee on atomic energy. He helped draw up the law controlling atomic energy in this country.

THROUGH HIS COMMITTEE congress keeps a check on what is being done about the development of atomic energy in the United States. Which means:

The committee is in close touch with the atomic energy program.

The Post, indignant at McMahon for his piece in Collier's, says Lilienthal's commission had no advance knowledge of it.

McMahon, asked today if he had any comment on the post editorial, said:

"Mr. Bernard Baruch two years ago said 'we are all engaged in a race between the quick and the dead.'"

"There is nothing which my article revealed which is not known to every nuclear scientist in the world worth his salt.

"That's the reason why the scientists in this country and elsewhere desperately want effective international control of atomic energy.

"Unless the truth is brought home to the peoples of the world, atomic energy may well spell destruction for mankind."

Those two items of information—Keefe's and McMahon's—come at a time when this country is getting tough with Russia."

If President Truman's call to build up our armed forces was intended to jolt Russia's nerves, this latest information may give them another jolt.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

AS I saw and heard Dicky's reaction to Georges' fantastic announcement, I told myself, not for the first time, that he might have won laurels on the stage if he had chosen to take up that profession.

He knew, of course, from me, everything that Georges was planning to tell him, but not the slightest quiver of an eyelid betrayed that knowledge. Instead, he first stared at the royal playboy as if he could not believe his own ears. Then he leaned forward and spoke softly:

"Georges, I am so sorry! I had no idea the hardship you have undergone had affected you in this way. I must get a physician, rather a psychiatrist to you at once. This is terrible!"

He rose to his feet, and turned to the door. But Georges also was on his feet, his eyes flashing, and his face crimsoned. I began to wonder whether Dicky had not gone too far in his projected task of needling Georges, but reversed the judgment when I saw that he was not advancing to the door, had simply turned toward it, and now was looking back at the fugitive king's explosive shout.

"What do you mean, talking about a psychiatrist?" he fumed. "Are you insinuating that I am out of my mind because you do not wish to believe what I am telling you?"

He struck an attitude as though he was going to draw a sword, and went on in what he patently believed to be withering accents.

"You smug, conventional Americans of the middle class!" he fumed, "who refuse to admit of any freedom for a man or a woman who once has bowed to the yoke of marriage. What do you know of the suffering which can come to a sensitive woman who loves one man, is bound to another, and is driven almost to death or madness by the conflict between her love and her duty?

Dicky looked at him with the stare of an entomologist inspecting an impaled insect.

"You've got your cues mixed, boy," he said. "In the first place, divorce courts are full of smug, conventional Americans of the middle class—whatever that is—who are chewing the fat about problems such as the one you've broached. Indeed, it's been used so often in the movies that I believe no reputable producer would come within smelling distance of it.

"But, just to get the record straight," Dicky went on, "and to assure myself that I'm not seeing lizards crawling up the wall, are you trying to tell me that you have any special woman in mind who is being ground between love and duty?"

"You know very well what I mean," Georges said furiously. "I see it all now. Your wife already has told you what I said to her. But I'll repeat it in your teeth. I mean your niece, Mary. I'm suffering the tortures of the damned because I did not realize before I pledged my troth to Olina that Mary still loved me. That is the cause of her breakdown, her conflict between her love and her duty, although how she could feel any duty toward that jackanapes who has made her whole life miserable with his insane jealousy of her, I cannot see."

Dicky appeared to me to be about nine feet tall as he rose to his feet, strode across the room, reached down, caught Georges' coat collar, drew him to his feet, shook him as if he were a terrier and Georges a rat, and then tossed him back into his chair.

"You damned whimpering whipper snapper," he said, "if you ever dare to open your lips again and soil my niece's name with a lot of damned tripe like that, I'll not only beat you to a pulp, but I'll bring you out in front of all the assembled wedding party, including Olina, her mother, and her stepfather, and of all of Mary's relatives, and there I'll turn you over my knee, and spank you as if you were the whimpering bad small boy you are."

At the office of the Officers Reserve Corps at 182 South Main street the display includes a captured German rocket engine which was used to power the world's first rocket aircraft, the Messerschmidt 163. It is complete with tent, clothing, bedding, food and snow shoes.

"Today, as in the past, the Army is essential for national security and a positive force for peace," was the statement of General Carl A. Spaatz, chief of staff of the U.S. Air force in his tribute to Army Day. Expressing high regard to the citizen-soldier veterans who have borne arms in times of emergency General Spaatz also paid tribute to the soldier of today who, at home and abroad, presents tangible evidence of this country's determination for peace. "Without world peace we achieve security only to the extent of our ability to defend ourselves," the general said.

MIDWEST BELT SURVEYS SOIL

Farmers Doing Their [illegible] with Corn Planting, Fertility Buildup.

By The Associated Press

[illegible] GO March 31 — "I'll [illegible] about the same amount [illegible] year as last [illegible]

[illegible] surveying his 160 [illegible] land in the heart of [illegible] summarizes the at- [illegible] western farmers at [illegible] the third post-war [illegible]

[illegible] From western [illegible] eastern Nebraska—land of [illegible] hogs—farmers intend to [illegible] acres into corn as in [illegible] The agriculture [illegible] for more [illegible] crop will be [illegible] There will be fewer— [illegible] lighter—cattle [illegible] have more land in grass [illegible] dropping soybeans." [illegible] The grass will help [illegible] up his soil And that's [illegible] these farmers are thinking more about this year—crop rotation, to save the earth from being worn out

Lund came to America from Sweden when he was 19 Now, at 53 his Sheldon, Iowa farm characterizes rural America—a good sized barn a cattle shed a chicken house, a double corn crib The buildings are mostly new and have electricity

Borer Troublesome

This year one of Lund's sons will be home to help after studying at Iowa State an agriculture college Lund lost his eldest son on a bomber in the Pacific during World War II He has two other sons and two daughters

What can cause trouble for Lund and other farmers particularly in northern Illinois, is the corn borer The borer is a pinkish worm about an inch long the larva of a night-flying moth. It eats corn stalks and ears

Dr G C Decker, entomologist at the Illinois agriculture experiment station, warns, "If corn is planted early and moth emergence is late, we may well expect a corn borer outbreak more disastrous than we have yet experienced"

Over at the other end of the corn belt farmer Frank Ruse is buying corn to feed his hogs Ruse owns a 176 acre farm near Winchester, about 15 miles southeast of Columbus O

"I'm buying grain now and it's plenty high" Ruse says. "It's unusual for me because I normally raise all I need But even with the present price of feed I guess I can make a profit on hogs" Looking about, Ruse thinks he's in pretty good shape and farming is a pretty good life

But Ohio's spring pig crop will be 11 per cent lower than last year and that mirrors the trend throughout the corn belt. A short corn crop last year fewer pigs this spring, less pork in butcher shops next fall—you can't get around the facts of rural life

Sees Pork Derth

Robert Lee, a farmer up in Minnesota, puts it this way—"judging by the number of sows being shipped to market now there probably will be a shortage of pork with considerably higher prices in the late summer and fall"

This Annandale farmer says he's feeding 250 hogs and "the recent price drops have robbed me of my year's profit But I intend to go right on raising hogs because I think feed prices will go down and after all, that's what I'm equipped for"

Minnesota also is an important dairy state and Oscar Swenson of Nicollet, a leading dairy farmer, says "I look for a good year for the dairy farmer I think production will be pretty well maintained, if prices don't drop too much"

In DeKalb county Illinois which produces enough meat animals annually to feed a city of 500 000 for a year Ed Safford leans against his pig sty fence and looks at the 40 little white pigs in his "nursery" pen and at the 50 head of cattle in his feed lot

"I'll grow and market just as much as I did last year" he says "I'm going to cut down my corn acreage in another year to save the fertility of the soil"

Iberia School Regime Commended by State

IBERIA, March 31—"The organization of Iberia school is sound and the teaching is above the average" said Glen A. Rich, state supervisor of schools, in an annual report to Supt. Earl E Bowman, executive head of the Washington-Bloomfield school, and Edward Hall, president of the board this week

The high school is continued on the list of first grade schools approved by the state department

"Careful consideration should be given to an adequate building program in the near future as the building is overcrowded Industrial arts should be added to the curriculum The rooms need decoration and the halls should be treated with acoustical materials to lessen the noise in the building"

Delaware Co. Schools To Join in Music Event

DELAWARE, O., March 30—The first all-county music festival in Delaware's history will be staged at Ohio Wesleyan university's Gray chapel April 9.

The choral groups will be under the direction of Prof. Rexford Keller and the band will be handled by Prof. Earl Beach, both of the Wesleyan music department.

Swim Pool Plan Ready For Kenton Council

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 31—The Kenton city council Monday will receive cost estimates on its proposed new $100,000 swimming pool. Council has received two plans from architects Ackley, Bradley & Day, and has chosen one as best suited for the local project, authorizing the firm to prepare a cost estimate.

The council is hopeful the pool project can be advertised for bids in April and construction begun in June.

The swimming pool 75x164 feet will be built northeast of Hardin county veterans memorial park, and east of the present Spring Grove golf course. The Memorial park project is an over-all enterprise which, when completed, will house the pool, tennis courts, baseball diamond, horseshoe courts, picnic ground, and bridle paths. The park site is a mile from the east corporation limits.

Several weeks ago, the park commission deeded to the city the plot where the swimming pool is to be constructed. Various civic bodies plan to sponsor development of other features of the park. Two years ago, the park site was bought by Kenton post of Amvets and later deeded to the county park commission for development. The area already includes the nine-hole Spring-Grove golf course and clubhouse.

FUNERAL HOME IS REMODELED

Open House To Be Held Sunday at Uncapher-Bastian Establishment.

With the completion of redecorating and refurnishing of the [illegible] parlors at the Uncapher-Bastian funeral home at 122 West [illegible] street, plans have been made for open house to be held Sunday afternoon. The public is invited to visit the funeral home between 2 and 6 o'clock.

An outstanding addition to the funeral home in the improvement program is a new Connsonata Electronic organ with Masse chimes. During the open house hours, Robert Campbell, formerly of Marion, now sales manager and musical director of the organ concern of Elkhart, Ind., will give a recital.

Student at U. of Michigan

An accomplished organist, Mr. Campbell has a master's degree in music from the University of Michigan where he studied with the late Palmer Christian. He is a son of Mrs. Clara Campbell of Gurley avenue.

The organ has been installed in the front foyer of the drawing room suite, the walls of which have been redecorated in the Monticello pattern. A gray-green floral pattern covers the walls of the family room and the reception room at the end of the foyer, reserved for family friends, has been decorated in a dark green leaf motif.

Formed Partnership in 1946

Another addition is two new automobiles for use by families.

John Uncapher and Warren Bastian, owners and operators of the funeral home, have estimated total improvements at $14,000. Their partnership was formed in July 1946.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—Stocks pushed actively higher today in a resumption of Tuesday's market rally.

Selected steels, motors and rails led the way, and some of the oil and copper issues tacked on further gains.

Operations on the trading floor again were reported near normal on the third day of the financial workers strike. Brokers and nonstriking employes passed relatively quiet picket lines to take their positions.

Commission houses attributed continued demand for shares to anticipation of defense expenditures, military stockpiling, European relief assistance and tax reduction prospects.

Gainers included Amerada Petroleum, Mission Corp., U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, International Harvester, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Illinois Central, General Electric, American Tobacco "B", Twentieth Century-Fox, Lowe's, American Smelting, Kennecott and Phelps Dodge.

Bonds were narrow and commodities irregularly lower.

THE Richmond baseball club, now called the Braves instead of the Roses, the switch being made to affiliate the class D Ohio-Indiana league nine closer to its parent, the Boston Braves, will open spring training the same date as the local Marion Cubs—April 5. . . . But while the Cubs will train at home, the Braves will go south—to High Point, N. C. . . . Besides having a new nickname, the Braves have a new manager in 28-year-old Ollie Byers, a right-handed hurler who replaces Rex Carr. . . . Though they'll have 11 boys back from last year's fifth place squad, the Braves expect to field the youngest team in Richmond's three years in organized baseball. . . . Back with them will be the colorful pint-sized fastballer, Hal Luddy, who had a 2-0 mark with the Roses before finishing the season with another club, and two other pitchers, Bill Norwood, who came to Richmond from the No. 1 spot on Purdue university's nine, and Norm Stephens who was with the University of Florida before winning one and losing one for Richmond last season. . . . Noel Roberts, who caught 71 games for Richmond last year and earned the third highest fielding average in the league with a .972 will be back, as will shortstop Joe Della Monica, though he may be switched to second base, his original position. Joe hit .324 with Richmond in 24 contests last year. . . . Five outfielders will be back, including Jack Regan, top man in the league in fielding averages with a .974. Jack is back to work out the bugs in his hitting which was .268 last year. . . . Other veteran outfielders are Don Stewart, converted pitcher, Bill Brady, who drove in 29 runs in 44 games, left-hander Bob Fruciano, and Frank Santorsa. . . . John Cooney, Richmond second-sacker last year, has signed a Richmond contract, but the chances are that he will move up.

They're Kids

AMONG THE PLAYERS Richmond has under contract but does not expect to see back are Peter Swain, who won 10 and lost 10 for Richmond last year, John Logan, who made a 2-2 record, and catcher Robert Pottenger, a .308 batter last year. . . . Swain and Pottenger are training with Evanston, and Logan, a key player on the St. Louis Bombers in the Professional Basketball Association of America, isn't sure he will stay in baseball. . . . New Richmond business manager is Austin Brown, who pitched with the Roses last year. . . . He takes the place of Jim Hoey, Richmond's first business manager.

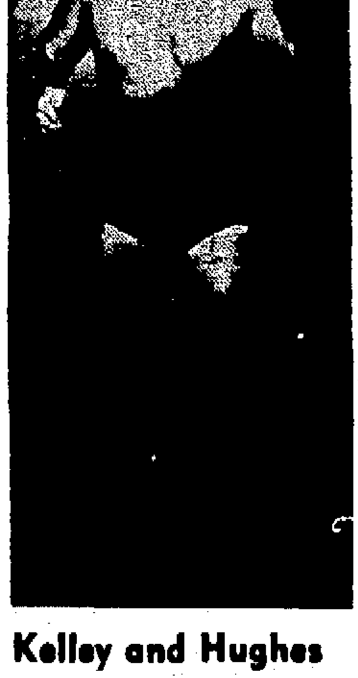
ZEKE BEKEZA, new Marion Cub manager, was in town yesterday after spending several weeks in training at the Chicago Cubs' St. Augustine, Fla., school for farm club managers. He left for Detroit last night but plans to be back in Marion Friday to prepare for the Cubs' spring training opening next Monday. . . . Workmen yesterday began reconverting the sideline bleachers at Lincoln park stadium into box seats. They will also replace the splitting plywood backs on the existing box seats with cast aluminum backs.



Kelley and Hughes Tangle Thursday

In another double main event card Jack Kelley, the former boxer will meet Len Hughes, the former mystery man in one of the 90 minute matches at the Marion Armory Thursday night. This match might turn out to be one of the roughest for several weeks ago Hughes really had a match at the Armory, only it was with the fans. As he was leaving the ring several of the fans and Hughes staged one of the wildest nights seen at the local Break-It-Off-Society. When the smoke had died down, the results were five broken chairs, several bumps on Hughes head and a doubtful amount of mussed up clothing. Thursday night Hughes will be meeting a man who can take it as well as give it out.

The other 90 minute match brings in a newcomer from Texas by the name of Gene Blakely. Gene has been appearing on shows in Toledo for the past several weeks and this is the first time Promoter Fishbaugh has been able to sign him for a Marion appearance. Balk Estes who has been upsetting a few men on the local mat will be Gene's opponent.

A tag team match prelim will start the show at 8:30. Prices 50c — 75c — $1.00. Call Markert and Lewis Cigar Store for your reservations.—Adv.

Larry Strahm Decisioned In Finals of State AAU Tourney

Larry Strahm, 126 pound featherweight of Carey, fighting under the Marion banner in the state AAU boxing show, was decisioned by William Tate of Dover in the finals at Toledo last night, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Strahm decisioned Tom Henderson of Dayton to gain the finals Monday night to become Marion's sole winner in the state tourney.

Wallace Smith, the national AAU lightweight champion, will lead Ohio's eight man team to the national meet at Boston again next month.

The Hard-punching Cincinnatian successfully defended his state crown here last night, knocking out Bill Brazil, 135, in 1:02 of the first round.

Two other Cincinnati fighters—flyweight Rufus Holliday and heavyweight John Vinegar—also won individual titles. This gave Queen City battlers the team championship.

Springfield was runner-up with two champions — middleweight Joe Jarman and lightheavy Frazier Moore.

Other titlists:

Bantamweight Darrel Ladd of Dayton, featherweight William Tate of Dover and welterweight Charles Cotton of Toledo.

Holliday, brother of Golden Gloves champ Bob Holliday, kayoed Howard Friemark of Toledo in the first round of the semi-finals and followed this with a tko of Toledo's Kelly Hymore in the finals.

Vinegar pounded out decisions over Bill Gray of Columbus and—in the title match—John Cleaver of Springfield despite being outweighed 16 pounds each time.

Jarman, defending middleweight champ, decisioned Herb McDonald of Dover. Other final matches: Ladd knocked out Tom English, Columbus, in the third round; Tate decisioned Larry Strahm, Marion; Cotton knocked out Al Belcerzak of Toledo in the third, and Moore kayoed Robert Wickline of Dayton in the first.

Double Main Go On Mat Card Thursday

Two 90-minute wrestling matches and a four-man 10-minute preliminary team event are on tap Thursday night at the Armory for followers of the wrestling game, Les Fishbaugh, promotor, announced today.

Jack Kelley, a former boxer who doesn't mind reverting to fisticuffs, and Len Hughes, who instigated a near riot three weeks ago at the Armory, will grunt and groan in the first match. A loose interpretation of the rules is expected.

The second 90-minute go will feature Balk Estes and Gene Blakely of Texas, who will be making his first appearance at the Armory. Both are clean wrestlers, Fishbaugh said.

In the team event, "Donald Duck" and Paul Cochran will tangle with Bob Chapman and Carl Ault.

MASSILLON COACH GOES TO AKRON U.

By The Associated Press

MASSILLON, O., March 31—William G. Houghton, 36-year-old Massillon High school coach, said today he had signed a two-year contract as head football coach at Akron university.

Houghton said formal confirmation of his appointment to replace Paul Baldacci, who stepped out of coaching recently, probably would come tomorrow following a meeting of Akron's board of trustees.

Baldacci quit the football post several months ago following student criticism of the Zippers' athletic program. He was retained as a professor, however.

Houghton took over the coaching reins at Massillon when Paul Brown, now general manager and coach of the Cleveland professional eleven, was named head football coach at Ohio State university in 1941.

He entered the Navy in 1942 and resumed coaching with the 1946 season. His Massillon squads won 21 games, tied three and lost six the three years he was at the helm.

Houghton has been in the Massillon school system since his graduation from Ohio Wesleyan university in 1933.

KRAMER TAKES RIGGS IN COLUMBUS GAME

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31—Big Jack Kramer proved again last night he is master of Bobby Riggs, bowling over the 1947 pro tennis champion, 6-2, 6-4.

The win was Kramer's 41st in 58 matches on their cross-country tour, and his ninth in a row. Some 3,400 fans were on hand.

In the opener, Dennis (Dinny) Pails, the Australian star, beat Francisco (Pancho) Segura, 9-7, 6-3. Kramer and Segura paired in doubles to beat Riggs and Pails, 6-1, 6-4.

TRIBE SECONDS NO MATCH FOR BROWNS

By The Associated Press

TUCSON, Ariz., March 31—The St. Louis Browns still are a better baseball team than the Cleveland Indians' second-stringers.

The 1947 American league cellar-dwellers proved that yesterday when they handed a team of Tribe subs an 11-5 shellacking on a rocky, sand-swept diamond at nearly Globe-Miami. It was the Browns' first victory in five starts against the Tribe, and snapped Cleveland's seven-game winning streak.

Manager Lou Boudreau, who had ordered most of the Tribe regulars to stay in Tucson to avoid possible injury on the barren field, was the only Cleveland front-liner in the game. Lou also retired after four innings of play.

Rookie right-handers Ernie Groth and Cal Dorsett wrote probable return tickets to the minors for themselves when they were belted for 14 hits and yielded four walks.

Dorsett was clubbed harder than Groth and yielded five runs on six hits in three innings of hurling.

Avila, the Baltimore-bound second baseman from Mexico, and Allie Clark, making a determined bid for a starting outfield post, led Cleveland's nine-hit attack with two safeties apiece.

Bob Lemon, No. 2 Cleveland pitcher, faces the Browns here today in the Tribe's final meeting with St. Louis until opening day in Cleveland stadium April 20.

Kentucky, Oilers Set For Olympic Finals

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—Kentucky matches its youth and speed against the height and experience of the Philips Oilers tonight in the finals of the Olympic basketball tryouts.

There's no doubt about the qualifications of each quintet. The Kentucky Wildcats (36-2), breezed to the NCAA title and won its first two tryout tests handily.

Philips (61-3) captured its fifth straight AAU crown and swept its two trials here just as easily.

Kentucky's first five is almost a cinch to make the 14-man Olympic team intact. Which five Oilers will be named to the squad won't be known until after the twin bill. The four other places will go to members of other teams who participated in the trials.

Training Camp Notes

KELLER TO START

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Charley Keller, the question mark of the New York Yankee outfield, was slated to make his season's debut today in an exhibition game against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Keller, who was one of baseball's most powerful hitters before he was sidelined by a back injury last year, planned to play five innings. He underwent an operation during the winter on a broken disk in his spine.

TED WILLIAMS BACK

SARASOTA, Fla. — Ted Williams was back in action for the Boston Red Sox today after 11 days of idleness with an ailing back.

Williams got into the lineup yesterday as the Sox trounced their Louisville farm team, 13 to 0.

EVEN ROOKIES HOMER

EL CENTRO, Calif. — The National league was given extra warning today about the New York Giants' home run power.

The Giants topped the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday, 6 to 4, on the strength of a three-run homer by rookie Boby Rhawn and thus took a 4-1 lead in the series with two games to play. Ralph Kiner homered for the Pirates. The teams will meet again today at Phoenix, Ariz.

MARINERS WIN TITLE

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., March 31—Columbus is the All-American Pro basketball league's 1948 play-off champions. The Mariners routed Youngstown's Cubs, regular season champs, last night, 65-48, for their third win on the best-of-five series. Youngstown won only the second game.

SCHOOLBOY CAGERS PREP FOR FINALS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 31 — Practically all the talent will be in town today for a look at the state fairgrounds arena where the Ohio high school cage championships will be decided Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

All four Class B finalists—survivors of some 1942 starters—will work out on the tournament hardwoods today in preparation for Thursday's semi-final clashes.

Lima St. Rose (27-2) leads off at noon, with Eaton (21-2), Glenford (35-1), and North Canton (23-5) following at hour-and-half intervals.

Canton South has been on hand since Monday, and had another 3 p. m. workout scheduled at Aquinas High school gym, the same spot where Hamilton Catholic will practice tonight at 3.

Findlay's undefeated Trojans will arrive tonight to get set for a 9:30 a. m. Thursday practice session, following an 8 a. m. workout by Hamilton Catholic. Canton South has an 11 a. m. Thursday practice booked at the coliseum, and Coshoction makes its first appearance there at 4 p. m.

In between those sessions the opening game in Class B, Eaton vs Glenford, will be played at 2:30 p. m. The other Class B semi-final, between Lima St. Rose and North Canton, is scheduled at 8 p. m. Thursday.

Friday's Class A slate is: 2:30 p. m.—Coshoction (19-5) vs. Hamilton Catholic (26-1); 8 p. m.—Findlay (25-0) vs. Canton South (23-1).

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S Fullerton jr

NEW YORK, March 31—From now until the 15th of May, a lot of baseball managers and club owners will be nursing a headache spelled "B-o-n-u-s" . . . . That is to say they're just discovering what the bonus rule means . . . The rule says that a player who has received more than a certain amount in bonuses for signing can't be optioned out to the minors, without waivers, once he is brought up to the big leagues . . . The object, apparently, was to curb the custom of handing out hugh amounts to youngsters by clubs which happened to be in the chips. All it accomplished was to keep these youngsters, many of whom need seasoning, sitting on benches in major league parks . . . Clark Griffith already has voiced the suspicion that some clubs have been covering up bonus players and it looks like a safe bet there'll be more of that unless the rule is repealed.

BETWEEN HALVES of one of the Olympic trial basketbal games the other night, members of the Olympic fencing team put on an exhibition with electrical epees . . . These swords have a device which flashes a light and sounds a buzzer when an opponent is touched with the tip . . . At one juncture there was a double touch and both badgets sounded off . . . The basketball fans caught on immediately. From all sides came a chorus: "tilt."

Horses revolutionized the lives of the plains Indians as greatly as autos changed the lives of the plains farmers.

Cards' Murry Dickson Beats Yanks on No-Run, No-Hit Game

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 31—Murry Dickson of the St. Louis Cardinals, hurled the second no-run, no-hit nine inning spring exhibition game in baseball history yesterday. The performance showed Manager Eddie Dyer he was justified in standing by the little righthander last year when he couldn't win for losing.

MURRAY DICKSON
No Hit, No Run Pitcher

The Cardinals, and Dickson in particular, had tough luck all through the season. He wound up with 13 victories and 16 losses. The fans were down on him, but Dyer kept rushing him into vital contests despite the boos from the crowd.

Murry picked on the world champion New York Yankees in St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday. He faced 30 batters, walking five and hitting one. He struck out six. The Yanks' best effort was a screaming liner that Joe DiMaggio hit straight at shortstop Tommy Glavino.

Dickson didn't have to work hard. The Cards stepped out in the first inning and clubbed Bill Bevens for seven runs. From then on the St. Louisians didn't score. They didn't have to.

The late Cy Bianton of the Pittsburgh Pirates pitched the only other spring no hitter, according to the sketchy exhibition records. He blanked the Cleveland Indians without a blow in New Orleans, April 9, 1939.

REDS SHUTOUT PHILS, 11 TO 0, RAP 14 HITS

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 31—The Cincinnati Redlegs, who hammered the Phillies for 14 hits at Tampa, arrived here today with intentions of duplicating the feat.

The Reds, winners of their last five grapefruit league starts, romped to an 11-0 victory over the Phillies yesterday. They blasted Schoolboy Rowe from the mound in the sixth, scoring eight times from eight hits.

The Reds have won 12 of 21 exhibition games, and two of three with Philadelphia.

Herman Wehmeier and Johnny Hetki scattered five hits among the Phillies. Only third baseman Calabero connected twice.

Rookie Shortstop Red Stallcup got his second spring homer in the third. The drive over right field fence sent Bobby Adams, who had singled, home.

Walter Dubiel, who took over in the sixth after Rowe had been rocked by five runs, promptly served a home-run ball to third baseman Grady Hatton. Consecutive singles by Hank Sauer, Babe Young, Ray Lamanno, Adams, Stallcup and Hetki had set up the scoring.

Stan Musial Looking for Good Year Confident He Can Bat .300 for Cards

By FRANK ECK
AP Sportswriter

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Stan Musial, slugging St. Louis Cardinal, is looking forward to one of his good years, full of confidence that he will always hit above .300.

"I believe I can hit above .300 every year," says Musial, one of baseball's nicer guys. "I had all my tough breaks last season. I was in a terrific slump but even then I was hitting the ball hard. It always went into some one's hands.

"A .350 or a .370 hitter has got to be lucky. You need those breaks to hit that high. I hit about .350 the last half of the season but due to my poor start I wound up with .312."

THUMBNAIL PREVIEW
ST. LOUIS CARDINALS
Pitching—Tops.
Catching—Weak
Infield—Strong.
Outfield—Fine.
Hitting—Powerful.
Finish—1-2.

Musial's balky appendix, of which he was relieved last October, is considered by almost every one in camp as the reason for his poor showing but Stan is not one for excuses.

He's Fine Now

"I know my weight was off," says the Donora, Pa., slugger. "I'm fine now at 175 pounds but last year I was underweight at 163.

"If we could have gotten Frank McCormick when there was a chance to get him last season we might have been all right. Frank would have helped our hitting from the right side of the plate and I could have played the outfield."

STAN MUSIAL
"Need Luck for .350"

McCormick was released by the Phils on May 14 and the next day the Boston Braves picked him up and he hit .333. Musial mentions first base because Dyer has been toying with the idea of putting Stan back in the outfield.

Either Dick Sisler, a southpaw swinger, or Verral (Nippy) Jones, a righty, might fill the bill. Sisler hit only .203 last year but is powdering the ball in exhibition games. Jones led the International league, batting .337 for Rochester. He is only 22 and normally a second baseman but Dyer reminds every one that Brooklyn's Jack Robinson never played first base until last year.

Every one wants to pick the Cards to win the pennant—with reservations. Most are afraid the club is getting old and does not have the dash that carried it to pennants in 1942, 43, 44 and 46. Others are fearful that the Red Birds lack depth. Dyer answers all these questions without hesitating although he fears Brooklyn and Boston.

"It was the young fellows who hurt us," says Eddie. "Musial fell off and he's only 27 and Howie Pollet is only 26. He won nine games for us after 21 victories in 1946 and we only lost the pennant by five.

"Brooklyn has a strong bench, fellows like Cookie Lavagetto and Arky Vaughan. Lavagetto got two hits to win two close games from us. Vaughan got a triple to tie the score in one game I think we lost. They are older players but good to have around.

"We've got some young players coming up this year but whether they will produce is another thing."

Dyer is high on four pitchers—Southpaw Ken Johnson, Clarence Beers, Al Papai and Gerald Staley. Johnson pitched a one-hitter against the Cubs late last season while Beers and Papai won 25 and 21, respectively, for Houston in the Texas league. Both turned in four wins in the playoffs. Johnson is a terrific fielder for a pitcher and is being regarded as another Willie Sherdel in stopping grounders to the box. Staley beat the Pirates in his only big league start and won six and lost one for Columbus.

Age No Handicap To Harness Horses Or to Drivers

By The Associated Press

ADIA, Calif., March 31 — horsemen insist years nothing in their sport. They brag about the matter.

W. O. Reynolds, an owner trainer, practically overdoes

He has a stable of 14 pacers trotters, all ready to race in Grand Circuit meeting starting at Santa Anita Friday, and the average age of his horses is 12

Mr. Reynolds is 86.

Harness people say a horse's equal to that of a human three times as old. That make the Reynolds' array average 36.

of his favorite pacers, C. by name, is 18, or a 54.

as he is called, will be remembered for his winning ways Hollywood Park last year. His record shows that he finished or second in 13 trips to the which is good racing, regardless of age.

Reynolds has another 18-year- Frank Watts McKinney, a which was in the money in 16 starts, and Golden aged 14, placed in the five times in 10 trips.

His trotter, Mardick, last whipped the great town, 1946 Hambletonian and won another race under most unusual circumstances.

It seems some careless bird- plugged him on the rump a race at Hollywood. The year-old Mardick went on to win quite unperturbed. The wasn't apprehended.

Owner Reynolds is not concerned over his 86 years. He trains and his horses regularly.

It's just as well that Mr. Reynolds isn't a horse, though. Because three times 86 might be asking too much, even for a harness horse.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

A psychiatrist finds that 50 per cent of our criminals are victims of digestive disorders . . More in need of pepsin than pep talks.

* * *

It had been believed that criminals were the result of environment but it now appears that underdone pastry can accomplish the same dark end.

* * *

This is the first indication we have had that Alcatraz is filled with victims of bad cooking or that rehabilitation should start in the kitchen.

* * *

And if that be the case it's time to draft Oscar of the Waldorf to assist Hoover of the FBI.

* * *

But to think that some lovely old slums have been torn down which could have been left standing . . . Except for the kitchens.

Still it will be a novel defense when the third offender tells the court "judge . . . I tried to go straight and I owe me downfall to the bad cooking in prison."
